Subject: Application for Leave (May 20-27)

Dear Mr. Wang,

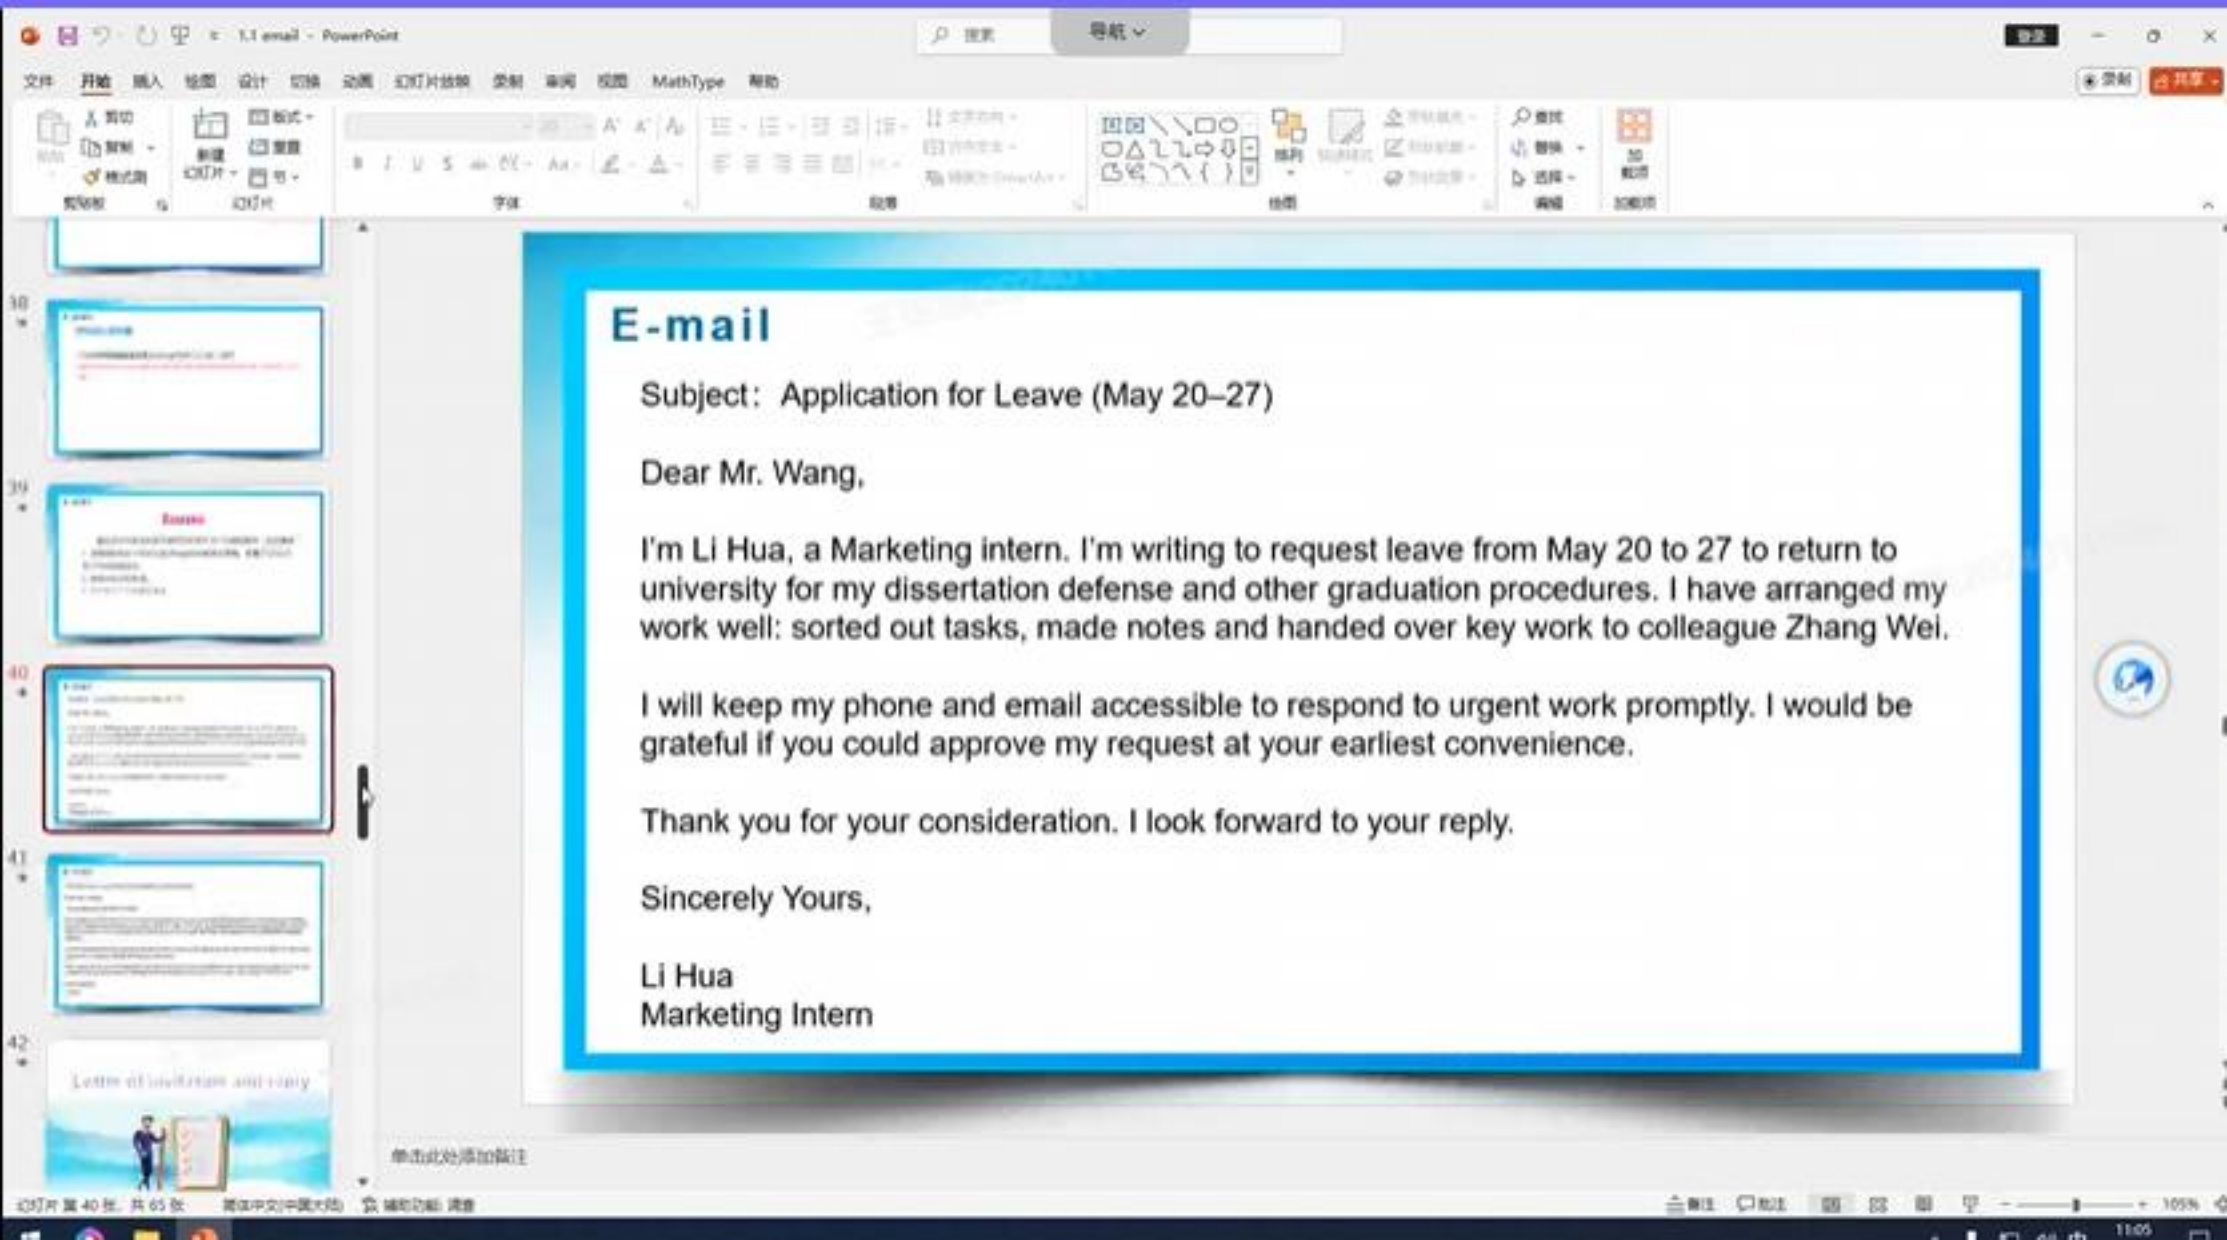

I'm Li Hua, a Marketing intern. I'm writing to request leave from May 20 to 27 to return to university for my dissertation defense and other graduation procedures. I have arranged my work well: sorted out tasks, made notes and handed over key work to colleague Zhang Wei.

I will keep my phone and email accessible to respond to urgent work promptly. I would be grateful if you could approve my request at your earliest convenience.

Thank you for your consideration. I look forward to your reply.

Sincerely Yours,

Li Hua

Dear John,

I hope everything is going well with you. It is my great pleasure to inform you that a short play based on a classic Chinese novel Journey to the West is scheduled to take place at the lecture hall on May 15th at 9:30 a.m. I am writing to extend an invitation to you to take part in this event.

First, the play is expected to commence with a brief introduction to the background of the story to help the audience better understand the plot. In addition, one of the key highlights will be the dramatization of key scenes, with a special emphasis on the characters' personalities and moral lessons. On top of that, traditional costumes and stage effects will also be included, as they offer a window into appreciating the aesthetic charm of classical Chinese theater.

We warmly welcome your presence at the performance. I eagerly anticipate your participation and wish you a rewarding experience.

Yours faithfully,
Li Ming

Dear Sir/Madam,

The 3rd International Landscape Planning & Design Conference will be held from 18th to 20th October in Beijing (Please check in on Oct. 18th). Its theme is "slow system improves city quality" and the conference aims at finding solutions to the current problems China is facing: traffic congestion, storm water flooding, environmental degradation, air and water pollution, etc. It will serve a platform, offering Chinese designers an opportunity to be friend, get connected to and cooperate with international professionals, therefore being able to compete in the international arena. The conference will also enable designers from other countries to get to know how China's landscape design has been developed and its present situation, therefore serving as a bridge to realize the win-win cooperation between Chinese and foreign designers.

Invitation

The 3rd International Landscape Planning & Design Conference is organized by ILIA. China Construction News and Beijing Forestry University Education Foundation, co-organized by Ai Jing Awards Foundation. The landscape experts and scholars from China and worldwide will be present at the meeting. The leaders from the Ministry of Housing and Urban-Rural Development as well as the State Forestry Administration of PRC will deliver keynote speeches and the conference covers the opening ceremony, forums, Ai Jing Awards ceremony, exhibition of works, technical investigation, etc.

We sincerely invite you to the conference and look forward to meeting you in beautiful autumn of Beijing.

Invitation

Dear John,

I hope everything is going well with you. It is my great pleasure to inform you that our International College is staging a "Mid-Autumn Night" celebration at the lakeside amphitheater on 28 September, starting at 7 p.m., and I'm writing to extend an earnest invitation to you.

First, the festival will commence with a short lecture on the legend of Chang'e so that you can taste the romantic myth behind the full moon. In addition, one of the key highlights will be a DIY moon-cake workshop, with special emphasis on shaping the delicate pastry and sharing family wishes. On top of that, a lantern-riddle contest will also be included, as it offers a window into traditional Chinese wit and reunion culture.

We warmly welcome your presence; simply drop me a line before 25 September if you can come. I eagerly anticipate your participation and wish you a rewarding Mid-Autumn experience.

Yours faithfully,

Li Ming
